The Great Jack-o-Lanterns

The fall breeze blew into the sunny day making the leaves rustle behind it. The Crew—Nick, Penny, Bev, Daniel, Jem, Brian, and Marie—were excited to carve pumpkins tonight. They were going to the pumpkin patch first thing to pick theirs out today!

“How will we gather enough money to buy our pumpkins?” asked Bev.

They all put on their thinking caps, “I know!” exclaimed Brian, “We can help carry in our neighbors’ groceries.”

“Yes!” They all screamed. They began their money earning journey.

First they spotted Mr. Wilson who gave them $5 for helping him. Next, Miss Sally gave them $7 and Mrs. Carter gave them $10!

They quickly added up their money they earned.

$$5 + $7 + $10 = $______$ (dollars total)

“Each pumpkin costs $3. Let’s see if we have enough for all of us” said Daniel.

$\$3$ (cost of one pumpkin) $\times$ 7 (friends) = $______$ (dollars needed)

“Now we need to subtract what we need from what we have to see if there’s enough” said Jem.

They calculated again:

$______$ (amount made) - $______$ (amount needed) = $______$ (money left over)

“Yay! We have enough!” Nick cheered.

They ran to the pumpkin patch and all picked out their favorite one. After that, they went home and their parents helped them carve little designs into the pumpkins. All they had to do now was light a candle and put it in the pumpkin and now they had jack-o-lanterns! They put their leftover money in their piggy banks for their next adventure!
